25X1 War plans call for the following five artillery units to be attached to the High
25X1 Commands:

- 25X1 1. Heavy motorized artillery brigade in Petrovgrad (Artillery reserve of the High Command). It is under the direct command of the Artillery Headquarters, and is supplied by the III Army in Novi Sad. Commander: Lt. Col. Djordje Milutinovic (former officer of the Royal Yugoslav Army and just returned from a prisoner of war camp). Chief of Staff: Col. Dragoljub Kokolovic. Political Commissar: Maj. Nikola Sinobad. Each brigade and artillery section (corresponding to an infantry battalion) has a political commissar. There are four OZNA officers in each brigade. This brigade is so short of fuel that with the amount on hand it could not move 100 kilometers. The brigade has four sections and an artillery workshop.
- a. Section I. Commander: Captain Stevo Cosa. Political Commissar: Zvonimir Zupan. The artillery section has two batteries of four 122 mm (?) motorized pieces making a total of eight. Commander of the two batteries: 2nd Lt. Djur Miric. Political Commissar: Mital Kopilovic. Each battery has four caterpillar prime movers, Russian type JA-12, four cars for gun crew and ammunition.
- b. Section II has two batteries with a total of eight 152 mm. short-barrelled Russian guns, with JA-12 prime movers.
- c. Section III is made up of two batteries of 105 mm. long-barrelled German guns, and JA-12 prime movers.
- d. Section IV is a surveying section, commanded by Maj. Zika Stevanovic.
2. Anti-tank brigade in Osijek. This brigade is armed with 45 mm., 75 mm., and 57 mm. guns. It is made up of three sections, each with two batteries of four guns, making a total of 24 guns.
3. Artillery brigade in Nis. This brigade has twenty-four 120 mm. Russian mine projectors (Minenwerfer).
4. Mountain artillery brigade in Banja Luka.
5. Mountain artillery brigade in Valjevo
